

Assassin Downs Burundi Premier Outside Hospital

Pierre Ngendandumwe Was Appointed Eight Days Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Pierre Ngendandumwe of the East African nation of Burundi was assassinated Friday outside a hospital in the capital of Usumbura, according to reports reaching the State Department from the U.S. Embassy there.

Ngendandumwe

Ngendandumwe, believed to be a middle-of-the-roader, had been premier just eight days. He succeeded Albin Nyamoya, suspected of being under Red Chinese influence.

Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo had accused Burundi of supplying and supporting Congolese rebel forces with the assistance of the Red Chinese embassy.

No Speculation
Washington officials declined to speculate on reasons for the assassination.

According to the report received here from the U.S. Embassy in Usumbura, the premier was killed as he left a hospital where his wife had just given birth to a baby.

In October 1961, before the former Belgian trust colony gained its independence, Premier Prince Louis Rwagasore was killed from ambush by a disgruntled Greek.

Burundi became independent on July 1, 1962.

The tiny landlocked country, which is on the eastern border of the Congo north of Lake Tanganyika, has been one of the most important Communist Chinese bases in Africa in recent years.

When King Mwami Mwambutsi IV visited Washington last spring he was put under considerable pressure from the Johnson administration to put an end to Chinese Communist influence in his nation.

Named Premier
The king named Ngendandumwe as premier on Jan. 7. He had previously held the position in June 1963.

The kingdom of Burundi was the Urundi half of the U.N. trust territory known as Rwanda-Urundi and administered by Belgium. Prior to World War I it was part of German East Africa. It was awarded to Belgium in 1923 as a mandate of the League of Nations, and in 1946 it became a U.N. trust territory.

In 1962, when it became independent, the territory divided into two states — Rwanda and Burundi.

Burundi has a population of some three million and total territory of 10,747 square miles. The three principal tribes are the Bahutu, Batwa and Batutsi. The principal crop is coffee.

Snow Falling On Capital

Chances for Good Weather Slipping
Away Each Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — As snow fell on the capital today and the chances of good weather on inauguration day grew slimmer, the inaugural committee had one consolation:

"Inaugural weather has been kind to few presidents. If it wasn't raining, as in 1841, it was snowing or just plain cold," the committee said in a look back into history.

The Weather Bureau's extended forecast for Washington calls for "precipitation" toward the latter part of the five-day period ending next Wednesday. It could be snow.

Back in 1841, William Henry Harrison, 68, insisted on riding a white horse to the Capitol to take his oath as president. It was cold and rainy, but he wouldn't wear a hat or coat. When he died one month later, exposure to the inauguration day weather was blamed.

Bomb Found in American Pool

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American servicemen, their wives and children were evacuated from a large swimming pool today when Vietnamese police discovered a huge bomb hidden near the pool.

The bomb, 40 pounds of TNT, was concealed in a large flower pot 10 feet from the normally crowded pool. Detonator wires had been led through holes in the pot so that a magneto could easily be attached.

The swimming pool is operated by the U.S. Command and only American servicemen and their dependents are admitted.

Peacekeeping Dues

Soviet Victory Is Indicated in U.N.

BY TOM PAGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Signs pointed today to a Soviet victory in a showdown vote over peacekeeping dues — unless the United States gets across its belated warning that this could stop the flood of American dollars into U.N. causes.

A check of the major U.N. voting blocs indicated that at this stage the United States could not muster enough support to enforce the no-vote penalty clause in the U.N. Charter against nations two years behind in their assessments.

Showdown Expected
If the showdown does come as generally expected, it is uncertain whether it would be triggered by a challenge from the General Assembly floor or a vote call on a resolution. It is believed that in any case a two-thirds majority would be needed to apply Article 19 taking away

(the assembly vote of delinquent members.

Diplomats who have attempted to assess the prospects believe that unless U.S. threats to tighten the purse-strings take effect, the result will either be U.S. failure to get the needed majority, or a majority so overshadowed by abstentions that it would be viewed more as a blow to U.S. prestige than a victory.

Members of the various blocs insist that no final decisions have been taken, but this general picture emerged:

British Commonwealth — 20 members — Only the four members of the "Old Commonwealth" — Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand — plus Malta were considered certain to support the U.S. position. There were signs that Cyprus and possibly the African states of Zambia and Malawi might go along. India was expected to vote with the Russians and the rest to abstain.

Latin American group — 19 members — Most of this group was expected to vote with Moscow or abstain. This is contrary to its usual Western stand, but in keeping with the traditional Latin American policy of opposing penalties for nonpayment of assessments.

Asian-African group — 59 members — as usual, this big group which ranges from the far left to extreme right politically, was divided on the financial issue. A few staunch pro-Western members such as the Philippines, Japan and Liberia were expected to back the United States. The United Arab Republic, Algeria and perhaps a half dozen others were expected to stock with Moscow while the rest would abstain.

Soviet bloc — 9 members — this closeknit bloc, most of whose members are delinquent, is considered certain to back Moscow along with Cuba, Yugoslavia and Albania.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A plane identified as a KC135 jet tanker crashed into a northeast Wichita residential area today and an eyewitness said "there are charred bodies all around" the crash scene.

At least a block of houses was set afire. Early reports said at least four houses were completely destroyed.

The plane had taken off from the Boeing Airplane Co. plant here.

Consider Domestic Needs

Senator Advocates a New Set of Priorities for U. S.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., called today for a reassessment of American priorities. Greater weight should be given to domestic programs "promoting the welfare and happiness of our people," he said.

For too long, Fulbright said in a speech for the National Association of Secondary School Principals, U.S. policy has been dominated by the demands of the cold war.

Cold War
The cold war, he said, "has consumed money and time and talent that could otherwise be used to build schools and homes and hospitals, to remove the blight of ugliness that is spreading over the cities and highways it has given the Communists the major voice in determining what proportion of our federal budget must be allocated to the military and what proportion, therefore, cannot be made available for domestic social and economic projects.

High Price
"This is the price that we have been paying for the cold war, and it has been a high price indeed,"

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said: "We have been preoccupied with foreign affairs for 25 years, and while striking progress has been made in certain areas of our national life, the agenda of neglect has grown steadily longer."

Churchill Reported Slipping Peacefully

Faithful Admirers Keep Vigil Outside in Cold

BY ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, 90, feared near death with a blood clot on the brain, was in a deep sleep today, suffering no pain, after a peaceful night under constant medical vigil.

Successive medical bulletins indicated his life was peacefully ebbing away. The latest bulletin, issued at 7 a.m., EST, by Lord Moran, Churchill's physician, said there had been no material change in the statesman's condition.

Anxiety for the fate of Britain's wartime hero stirred the hearts and prayers of millions, from ordinary folk to leaders of nations.

At Bedside
Near Churchill's bedside were Lady Churchill and their daughters, son Randolph and grandson, named Winston Spencer for his famous grandfather.

Daughter Sarah arrived from Rome by plane. Wearing a fur coat and dark glasses, she drove up to the Churchill residence and rushed inside.

Outside, in the frosty streets, a crowd of faithful kept their own vigil. As many as 200 stood there during the day. About 50 bunched in thick coats through the long night waiting for news.

The drama began with no hint of danger. The first word—around midday Friday—said Churchill had a cold.

First Alarm
Some three hours later came the first alarm: a medical bulletin said Churchill had suffered a cerebral thrombosis — a clot on the brain. He had also developed a circulatory weakness.

The old heart was flagging. At his bedside, two doctors fought for his life. One was Churchill's longtime friend, Lord Moran, 82. As Churchill's

First Arrests Reported From Federal Jury

Probe Connected
With 3 Slayings
Of Last Summer

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Federal marshals today arrested 16 persons indicted by a federal grand jury which probed the slaying of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss., last June.

Those arrested included Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and his deputy, Cecil Price.

One of those picked up was Philadelphia city policeman Richard Andrew Willis, 40, who was not among the 21 arrested in December by the FBI in connection with the triple slaying June 21.

Willis and Price were indicted last October by a federal grand jury in connection with the alleged beating of prisoners at the Neshoba County Jail in Philadelphia.

The 16 were brought to the federal post office-courthouse building here and began appearing before Commissioner Esther Carter.

The first two to go before her were Billy Posey, 28, operator of a service station near Philadelphia and Jimmy Townsend, 17, a high school dropout.

Miss Carter told them they were charged under two parts of the U.S. code — conspiracy to deprive a person of his civil rights and depriving a person of his civil rights.

Bond on the first charge was set for $5,000; the second at $750.

A crowd gathered outside the Neshoba County courthouse at

Train and Car Collide; 3 Die

STOUGHTON (AP) — Three persons were killed and three others injured today when a passenger train and an automobile collided in downtown Stoughton, the Dane County Sheriff's department reported.

First reports said the victims were from Whitewater. No other information was immediately available.

Seven Killed In Explosion Of Dynamite

BONASSOLA, Italy (AP) — Dynamite being unloaded from a freight train exploded today just as a passenger train passed on an adjoining track. Police said at least seven persons were killed and 50 injured in a series of blasts.

Ambulances, emergency trains and other rescue equipment were rushed to this Italian Riviera town from Genoa to the north and La Spezia to the south. Hospitals throughout the area were mobilized.

The explosions occurred in the Bonassola railway station just as a local train, bound to Genoa from La Spezia, arrived.

Workmen were unloading cases of dynamite from the freight train on a siding at the edge of the station. The explosives were for use in railway construction.

Officials said one of the cases exploded in the arms of a workman. The blast set off other explosions.

Two passenger cars of the local train received the full force of the chain of explosives. Authorities said they did not know what set off the first explosion.

Common Market Plan

U. S. and Canada Cut Auto Tariffs

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada and the United States have agreed to eliminate tariffs on automobiles and new parts, opening the way for a North American common market for the automobile industry.

The plan, announced Friday, will lead to better integration of the two countries' car industries and will significantly lower manufacturing costs in Canada by increasing production runs and efficiency.

Eventually, the retail price of cars in Canada will go down but the immediate effect on prices will be negligible, officials said. Canadian car prices are about 18 per cent above those in the United States.

New Investment
Earl K. Brownridge, president of the Motor Vehicles Manufacturers' Association, said new and heavy capital investment will be required to attain the objectives of the agreement.

Government officials estimated the manufacturers, most of them subsidiaries of U.S. companies, would save about $50 million a year. There were indications the money would be used for plant expansion.

The agreement does not include tires or replacement parts. It goes into effect immediately in Canada. President Johnson has to get congressional approval before it takes effect in the United States.

Under its terms, individual Americans may purchase Canadian cars in Canada and bring them home duty free. Canadians who buy new cars in the United States, however, would still have to pay an import duty of 17.5 per cent.

The agreement is subject to review before January 1968, and may be canceled by either country on 12 months' written notice.

Industry Minister C. M. Drury estimated that by the end of the 1968 model year the production of vehicles and parts in Canada will have expanded by about one third. This will mean more jobs in the Canadian auto industry which now employs about 1,000 in manufacturing and another 40,000 in the parts business.

2 Diplomats Accused of Subversion

Given 24 Hours
To Leave New African Country

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — President Julius Nyerere has accused two ranking U.S. diplomats of subversive activities and ordered them to leave this East African country.

Robert Gordon, counselor of the U.S. Embassy in Dar Es Salaam, and Frank C. Carlucci III, the consul in Zanzibar, were given 24 hours to leave the country. They made no immediate comment.

The U.S. State Department in Washington categorically denied Nyerere's charge.

"The allegation of subversive activity is without any foundation," said a State Department spokesman.

U.S. Ambassador William Leontar declined comment after Nyerere informed him of the expulsion order Friday.

A Tanzania communique said:

"The president informed the ambassador these two men were now persona non grata and asked him to ensure they left the United Republic within 24 hours."

The communique added that Nyerere was "satisfied" that the pair "were engaged in subversive activities."

Gordon, who arrived in Tanzania late last year, was the No. 2 American diplomat here. Carlucci took up his post a year ago following a revolution on the island of Zanzibar.

Both diplomats are experienced in African affairs. Carlucci served formerly in the Congo in Leopoldville and Stanleyville.

Russian Jet Makes Emergency Landing At New York Airport

NEW YORK (AP) — A huge Soviet airliner was a surprise visitor for more than eight hours at Kennedy International Airport Friday.

The plane made an emergency landing because it was low on fuel, used up in fighting fierce headwinds over the Atlantic Ocean on its flight from Moscow to Havana.

After taking on 10,000 gallons of fuel, the TU114 turboprop with 66 persons aboard was given permission by the State Department to proceed to Cuba. It departed.

The State Department is informing the Soviet government, however, a spokesman said, that permission to continue the flight in this case "does not constitute a precedent" for possible future emergencies. The plane could have been told to return to Moscow after refueling.

Fox Valley Soil Survey Gets Boost

Plan Commission to Provide Its Share Of SCS Mapping

Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission finally has taken steps to officially get a long-awaited soil survey underway.

The commission's executive committee has approved a resolution which provides for its share of the survey to be conducted by the Soil Conservation Service (SCS).

"It has been clearly demonstrated that a survey and analysis of soils in the Fox Valley Region is of great importance to the continuing development of the regional comprehensive planning progress," the resolution said.

1965 Budget
Included in the commission's approved 1965 budget are funds earmarked as one-third of the commission's share of the cost of the survey.

As a result of the resolution, the commission will request the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development to make application to the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA) for a federal 701 grant which will pay a portion of the cost.

The SCS also will absorb part of the cost of conducting the survey.

Plan Hit Snags
The commission has been seeking approval of the soil survey for about a year, but has encountered several snags.

There was difficulty in winning approval for payment of shares by the various membermunicipalities from contingent funds, so the matter was included in the 1965 commission budget.

Difficulty also was encountered in obtaining the 701 grant because the planning commission does not meet certain HHFA technical requirements.

However, the Department of Resource Development does quality, and application will be made through it.

Study Aides for Nurses

Appleton School Children Believed Much Healthier, Observes Doctor

Appleton school children are, also, generally much healthier than they used to be.

The observation was made by Carl D. Neidhold, president of the board of health.

However, the board felt a program proposed by the Red Cross to have adult volunteers assist public school health nurses has merit.

Discuss Plans
As a result, Supt. of Schools William Spears was invited to attend the next board meeting to discuss what arrangements are being made to establish a "pilot project" involving Red Cross-trained volunteers.

It has been proposed that volunteers be assigned to the schools on a daily basis. In addition to staying with youngsters who become ill, they could also transport children to their home or family doctor, if necessary.

The work of the volunteers would give the three public school nurses more time to concentrate on other duties.

Inform County
Dr. James Laird, city health commissioner, recommended the volunteer program to the schools and said the Outagamie County Medical Society should be informed.

Co-chairmen of the lunch committee are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conn and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tiedt. Others include Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Garvey, Lester Giesen, Roy Komp, Leo Hoier, Donald Tate, George meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Welsh, Elmer Kaddatz, Merim the school gymnasium. Dr. Bergman, Larry Westphal and Lloyd P. Williams, Appleton Mrs. Violet Laird.

least that is where the Red Cross would like to try it out.

Not Infringing
Health commissioners said the program should not be construed by the board of education or school administration as infringing on the schools.

Board members recalled that in the past the school board has been adamant about having the board of health involved in its health program.

The board of health pointed out, however, that the state law specifies the city health officer is to be the advisor to the schools. The board said it might be well to have a representative of the school system attend future board of health meetings.

"We've got some good school nurses and they are doing a fine job," Dr. Neidhold said. "and maybe this adult volunteer program will help them out."

Dr. Neidhold said today's wide range health education, including heavy television exposure, is a good thing. "People are getting smarter and healthier," he added.

Eastern Half Of Nation Hit By Wind, Snow

Huge Storm Is Moving Through Midwest Swiftly

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Winter's bitter elements — cold, snow and gusty winds — hit broad areas in the eastern half of the nation today, curtailing normal activities and inconveniencing millions of persons.

The huge storm, moving across the frigid prairie lands of the Midwest, swept eastward through the Ohio Valley into New England and into parts of the South.

Strong winds, with gusts up to 40 to 50 m.p.h. caused drifting in parts of the southern Great Lakes region and in the northern Ohio Valley. Nearly a foot of snow blanketed Indianapolis and amounts in the heaviest snow belt averaged two to three inches every six hours.

Snow Cover
The snow covering measured nearly three inches in the southeastern and south central Virginia. The snow extended into the northwestern corners of Alabama and South Carolina and northern Georgia. Light snow fell in parts of Arkansas and Tennessee with fairly heavy amounts in mountain areas.

The season's worst snowstorm appeared shaping up along the populous East Coast. The Weather Bureau in New York predicted near blizzard conditions for New Jersey, Long Island, southeastern New York and Connecticut. The bureau said a storm developing off the North Carolina coast "shows all signs of reaching major proportions."

Heavy snow warnings were posted for central and southern New England. Gale force winds, expected late today, could cause heavy drifting.

At least seven deaths were blamed on stormy and cold weather in Ohio. Among the dead were two transients found frozen to death in Youngstown as the mercury edged near zero and two girls who fell through the ice into a fishing lake near their homes outside Dayton.

Below zero temperatures again covered wide sections of the Midwest as well as in parts of New England and northern and western New York State.

The fresh blast of icy air into the Midwest dropped temperatures to near 30 below zero at Hibbing, Minn. In the central part of the nation, the mercury dropped to the teens into Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Fairly mild weather continued in the southern tip of Florida and Texas, with seasonable temperatures in most of the western half of the nation.

Fog blanketed the Pacific Northwest and most of the northern Great Basin region. Air travel was curtailed in many areas. In Seattle, incoming commercial flights were diverted to Portland, Ore., and passengers brought to Seattle by bus. Visibility was reported at 1-16 of a mile during the night. Flights from the Seattle-Tacoma airport were halted Friday. The fog extended northward to Vancouver, B.C., and covered much of eastern Washington.

In contrast to the below temperatures in the north, the early morning high at Key West, Fla., was 71.

Today's Deaths

Miss Ida Wunderlich, 98, 552 N. Division St.
Glen E. Rasmussen, 430 E. Iola St., Iola.

Bonduel Quint Nips Pulaski in Weird Finish

PULASKI — Bonduel emerged the victor, 58-57, over Pulaski in an NEW contest here Friday night but not before the game went into an overtime, then was stopped by a fan's protests, and a check of the rulebook gave the Bears the regulation time win.

The unusual affair came about when, with the score tied 57-57, Bonduel player Duane Kroening was fouled as the final buzzer sounded. Instead of giving Kroening a free throw, the game went into an overtime with Kroening then receiving his free throw at the on-set and sinking it. A fan argued that Kroening's free throw should have been shot in regulation time as that is when the foul occurred.

Officials stopped the game for 15 minutes as they checked the rulebook. After the consulting, the officials awarded Bonduel the game.

The battle was nip and tuck throughout as Bonduel lead, 11-9, at end of the initial period and still had a 2-point margin, 41-39, going into the final period.

Taking scoring honors for the game was Jerry Bryscynski of Pulaski with 18 points. For Bonduel John Wartman piloted home 16 points and Joe Rueckert had 15.

Byrnes to Quit Party Post

Chooses to Remain As Ranking Member Of Ways, Means Unit

Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.) announced Thursday afternoon he would keep his position as ranking member of the ways and means committee and leave his party post as chairman of the house Republican policy committee.

His action came following adoption of a resolution by the House Republican Conference Thursday barring leadership positions to ranking members of committees. Byrnes had supported adoption of the resolution.

In explanation, Byrnes sent the following letter to Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference:

"Dear Mr. Chairman: The resolution adopted by the conference with respect to ranking members of House committees serving in certain leadership positions had my full support from its inception. I am familiar through experience with the heavy responsibilities placed on any member who serves in two major leadership positions. Those responsibilities will be even greater in this congress with our reduced numbers and heavier party workload. . .

"While there are inherent difficulties in choosing between continuing as chairman of the Policy Committee and serving as ranking member of the Ways and Means Committee, I believe, after full and careful consideration, that I can best serve both the country and our party by continuing my position on the Ways and Means Committee."

CAB Stays Order on Ports In Clintonville, Outagamie

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Effective Time

Democrats Urge 1 Vocational School Board for Fox Cities

Resolution Calls for Abolition of 5 Local Units to Meet New Needs

A resolution urging the five Fox Cities vocational school boards to abolish the local boards and establish some type of area organization was adopted unanimously by the Outagamie County Democratic Party Thursday evening.

The resolution was adopted after the Democrats heard Richard W. Whinfield, assistant state director of vocational and adult education, Madison, outline the history of vocational education in Wisconsin and plead for a change in its current status in order to meet present needs.

Whinfield said legislation providing for establishment of area vocational schools on either a county or a school district basis, in order to give them a large enough tax base to operate, will be drafted. The resolution adopted by the local Democrats did not specify which type of area organization they favored, leaving that to the lead of the state board.

Under Study

Development of a Fox Cities area vocational school has been under study by the boards from Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha for the last year. Reluctance of some local boards to give up their control to a single area board has been the major factor delaying a decision, although the concept of an area vocational school has received support from all five boards.

A detailed plan for the structure and operation of an area school, including administration, curriculum, financing and the role of the existing schools, has been worked out by the school directors at the request of the joint study committee, and will be presented to the committee Jan. 26.

Whinfield, who also is co-director of the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education, emphasized in his talk to the Outagamie Democratic Party that vocational education should not be a "political football" or part of partisan politics, but a community project by Democrats and Republicans alike.

Brillion AFS To Plan for Foreign Student

Chapter Expects to Have Charter Ready For Tuesday Meeting

BRILLION — The local American Field Service (AFS) chapter will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the high school band room to discuss plans for securing Brillion's first foreign exchange student.

Formal chapter application blanks for establishment of the program are expected to be completed by the meeting.

Mrs. Robert Rowland and the Rev. Patrice de Mestral, who are in charge of the homes and student-family adjustment phase, have been attempting to locate a family interested in having a student spend the year with them.

Michael Ariens, local chapter president, said AFS lists these conditions for a home:

It is not the purpose of the AFS to turn the visiting student into "an American".

Room and Board

The American family provides room and board (it may deduct up to $50 per month on its income tax report), and each student receives $14 per month allowance from the AFS in New York.

An AFS student must have a bed of his or her own and may share a room with another teenage child who is 15 years of age or older.

Both parents must be at least 37 years old and have had children of their own.

There must be two parents.

Arrive in August

Students usually arrive in August and leave in June.

It is necessary to raise $750 to sponsor the student. Fund raising projects will be discussed at the meeting.

Other appointees in the chapter are Robert Ambrosius and John Haun, finance Mrs. Joan Armstrong, school advisor; Don Endries, Peter Konyha and the Rev. Karl Koehler, American Abroad co-ordinator Luella Schmidt, student representative Orlo Koerth and Clarence Wolf, publicity, and Miss Vera Bloodorn and Rev. Willard Albertus, projects.

Different Needs

In 1911 the first law providing for vocational education was passed by the Wisconsin legislature, making this the first state in the union to have such a law, he said. However, the structure of vocational education has maintained the same balance since 1911 but needs are far different now, he continued.

In explaining the current problems, Whinfield drew upon statistics showing that of 100 students entering elementary school, 93 complete it. Of those 93, 80 students graduate from high school, with 28 entering a four-year college program. However, he emphasized only 14 of those 28 actually complete the four-year college education. This means that 86 of the original 100 need additional education, which a vocational school program remodeled for today's standards would provide, he said.

Whinfield said that in the last year 2,000 prospective vocational school students were turned away because of a lack of facilities to accommodate them.

Money Problem

The money necessary to provide for those facilities does make vocational education in a sense a political problem, Whinfield said. Under the present organization of vocational education, with the schools run on the tax base of the community, it is impossible to meet the needs of the state in furnishing skilled manpower for its industries, he said.

He outlined the two proposals to meet this need, the prime one providing for organization of area vocational schools, which would give a large enough tax base for them to operate. Another possibility, which also would have to be evolved through legislation, would be organization on the basis of school districts, he said.

"The problem involved in doing this is primarily that of reorganization," Whinfield explained. The existing institutions would have to abolish their own vocational school boards and create new ones for the county or district, he said.

"This is a highly unpopular view due to vested interests," he said.

"A vocational education program on a statewide basis, supplying skilled manpower to the state's industries, would be a wonderful thing," Whinfield said. "It is time to change the laws made in 1911 and bring them up to date."

After a flurry of questions from the floor directed to Whinfield, the County Democratic Party unanimously adopted the resolution calling on the five local boards to take the necessary steps to abolish the local boards and bring about establishment of a vocational and educational program to meet the needs of the community.

The meeting was held in the First National Bank Community Room, with County Chairman Lester Balliet in charge.

Work on the Receiving Vault Being constructed at Graceland Cemetery, Clintonville, is nearing completion. Workmen are completing the interior. An announcement is expected soon listing the date the vault will be used. Dedication is tentatively planned for Memorial Day. (Laib Photo)

Week of Prayer for Unity to Start Monday in Churches

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL

"Behold, I make all things new."

This promise came from Jesus Christ, and it is the theme of a world-wide period of prayer next week for renewal in the churches to end their old rivalries and divisions and bring them together.

Starting Monday, millions of Christians observe an eight-day "Week of Prayer for Christian Unity."

It comes on a wave of changes in the Roman Catholic Church, stemming from the Second Vatican Council, and bringing that church directly into the ecumenical movement along with Protestantism and Eastern Orthodoxy.

Combined Services

In many communities, worshippers of all three branches of Christianity will hold joint services of litany, sermons, prayers and hymns as part of the week's observance.

It affords all Christians an "opportunity to unite in heartfelt prayer that the wounds of Christendom may be healed," says Joseph Cardinal Ritter, Roman Catholic archbishop of St. Louis.

"We must begin with an awareness of personal guilt for the sin of Christian disunity; proceed in a spirit of repentance and mutual forgiveness, and conclude with a determination to pursue and extend dialogue."

Week's Sponsors

The week is sponsored both by the Commission on Faith and Order of the World Council of Churches, made up of most major Protestant and Orthodox denominations, and the Roman Catholic Association for Christian Unity of Lyons, France.

Beginning last year, the two organizations agreed to alternate annually in preparing joint materials for services of prayer and scripture meditation for use during the eight days. It was done this year by the World Council.

"We are standing at the threshold of a new era," Archbishop Iakovos, primate of Greek Orthodoxy in the Americas, said in a special statement for the occasion. "The ecumenical movement is the beginning of a new creation."

Refreshed Air

"It has refreshed the air of the inter-faith encounter, dispersed the dust of self-righteousness, and renewed our faith, hope and love for one another."

Calling this the work of the Holy Spirit, he said the churches are being led toward "reunification by the invisible arm of Him, who made both the far off and high one, and crumbled the middle wall of partition."

Particular impetus was given to the unity observance this year by the Vatican Council's approval in December of an historic decree on ecumenism.

It encourages joint meetings and common prayer with other Christians — a practice which had occurred widely before approval of the document, but which now had added weight and authoritative sanction behind it.

The decree marks "the beginning of a new epoch in the work of reunion," says the Rev. Titus Cranny, of the Graymoor Friars, Garrison, N.Y. The Graymoors started the "unity octave" of prayers in 1908 among Roman Catholics.

In the early 1940's, the Protestant and Orthodox councils launched their annual week of prayers for unity, which eventually was made to coincide with the Catholic week. Now the twin observances, in effect, have coalesced into one.

The changed attitudes and activity have "affected all Christians," and drawn them "increasingly together to pray for unity, as Christ wills it for His Church," said the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, United Presbyterian executive.

Special Statements

He, as well as Cardinal Ritter and Archbishop Iakovos, made special statements for the observance. They were issued through the National Council of Churches.

"It is now increasingly clear that sincere Christians everywhere are agreed on the kind of unity for which we are called to pray," Dr. Blake said. "It is not a unity of absorption."

"Whatever our loyalty to the dogma and tradition of our separate churches, we all are coming to understand that unity does not come by all Christians becoming like us. Nor is it a unity of compromise."

"However, much we may long for unity, we all know better than before that Christ's unity does not come by the sacrifice of the truth. Rather, it is a unity of mutual enrichment, but even more it is a unity that comes as the gift of Christ Himself. 'Behold, I make all things new'."

Moslems Gain Many Converts

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP) — The Moslem faith may be gaining new adherents faster than Christianity in Africa, the World Council of Churches' meeting here was told.

Reports presented Wednesday said large pockets of paganism — whose practitioners worship ujju medicine men and their fetishes — also remain in Africa.

Cardinal Cushing

In Boston, the Roman Catholic archbishop, Richard Cardinal Cushing, and the Rev. Dr. Albert J. Penner, president of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, sent a joint letter to all pastors urging full participation in the week.

In addition to suggesting "joint services of Scripture readings, homilies and prayer," the letter urged:

"Meetings of clergy for the purpose of dialogue and to examine common civic and social responsibilities, public meetings and discussions in which separated brothers come to know one another and understand more deeply the seriousness of our division."

The letter concludes: "The most fruitful efforts for unity are those which are born and grow not in great church councils but in the hearts of lives and churches of the local community" through constant year-round concern for unity.

In Kansas City-St. Joseph, Mo., the Roman Catholic Diocesan Ecumenical Commission issued a special bulletin, encouraging Christians to "participate in and to initiate inter-church services" to promote unity.

Similar plans were made elsewhere.

Self-Imposed Rigors Part of Chaplain's Job

BY PAUL ALBRIGHT JR.

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—Riding a hurtling test sled and learning a new system of breathing at high altitudes are not among the usual activities of a minister, even an Air Force chaplain.

For Capt. Allen A. Kolmer of Waterloo, Ill., however, these rigors are part of his self-imposed training to understand the work and problems of his flock at Holloman Air Force Base near here.

The chaplain, 31, has undergone stresses of 16 to 20 times the force of gravity on his shoulders and spine. He has learned breathing use in high-altitude flights of up to 43,000 feet.

Many Tests
Kolmer, a member of the United Church of Christ, has taken two rides on test tracks, known as decelerators, and undergone three days of tests in high-altitude chambers at Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M.

The decelerators, or space sleds, are catapulted along two oiled rails until a braking device brings the sled to a quick halt. This abrupt stop imposes masssive gravity forces on the body of the rider.

The tests are used to determine levels of human tolerance under varied forces.

Hard Tackle
The chaplain, based here since July 1963, said the jolt of stopping gave an impression of being no harder than a hard football tackle he used to receive while attending Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ill.

Kolmer followed his sled rides by going to Cannon to learn pressure breathing in high-altitude conditions and qualifying as a passenger in any jet aircraft, particularly in the Tactical Air Command's F4C super-sonic plane, soon to arrive at Holloman.

Rudy Hernandez found the faith that changed his life when he was a poor ten-year-old shoeshine boy in San Antonio, Tex. At a Baptist mission he heard the minister say, "Whoever you are, Christ's death was for you." These words penetrated deep: "Christ died for me, a barefoot shoeshine boy! How the Lord must love me!"

After college and seminary, Rudy went into evangelism among his own people, Texas Latinos. Nine years ago he organized his first "Cottonpatch Crusade" among laborers from Mexico who harvested the cotton. They were poor in spirit also and he gave them the message he had learned as a child.

The Rev. Rudy Hernandez is now director of Latin American Evangelism for the Baptist Church throughout Texas, where one of every four is Latin. This fall he conducted the Cruzada Bautista Nueva Vida (New Life Crusade) in every major Texas city with Latin populations.

A reward of the Crusade was from an old laborer who had heard him preach. He said, "... We came looking for money and pleasure. But we have found more than that. We are taking back Christ in our hearts."

Bible Class Begins at 1st English

The 180 Bethel Bible students of First English Lutheran Church started their second unit of study in the Old Testament Wednesday, with a new class of 30 more students to join them.

Seven lessons make up the second unit of study. Classes will be each Wednesday through Feb. 24. There will be no Bethel classes during Lent. The third unit will begin the Wednesday after Easter, with several students already registered to begin another new Bethel class of 30 at that time.

Teachers in these Bethel classes are Mrs. Gordon Bubolz, Mrs. Herbert DeBruin, Merrill Meyer, Lester Muenster, Mrs. Henry Niederkorn and Mrs. Henry Veum. Joining the staff to teach the new class will be Mrs. Eugene Sedo. On Wednesday evening the Rev. Leonard A. Ziener, pastor, will teach the first session of this new beginning class.

Only a few of the original 180 are not able to continue because of moving out of town, illness or added family responsibilities.

Treasurer of the Bethel program is Fred Johnson. Henry Niederkorn is in charge of Bethel materials.

Artist, Author Paintings Shown

KAUKAUNA — Nine paintings by John Hawkinson, noted author and painter, are now on display in the children's department of the Kaukauna Public Library.

Paintings will remain up until Jan. 27. The paintings were used at the 1964 spring meeting of the Wisconsin Library Association at Green Bay at which the artist was one of the speakers.

The water colors include pictures of deer, squirrels, raccoons, horses, birds and several woodland scenes. His book, "Collect, Print and Paint From Nature," is also on display. The book slowly guides the amateur artist in the arts of printing, spatter and regular, and water color painting.

He advocates an unusual manner of holding the brush and the use of several colors on a brush at one time to give a blended effect. Techniques explained in the book are illustrated and the volume has been used as a guide for teachers as well as a basic learning text for students. The paintings are being exhibited at libraries throughout the state.

'Night Pastor' Ministers to 'Night People'

Robert H. Owen Serves Chicago's Rush Street Area

CHICAGO (AP) — Amid the gaudy neon lights which awaken Rush Street at dusk is a small desk lamp, illuminating in a second-story window a narrow white sign: "Night Pastor."

Behind it, six nights a week, sits the Rev. Robert H. Owen, minister to the "night people" — the bartenders, B-girls, musician, cabbies and cooks of Chicago's near North Side entertainment strip.

Father Owen, 40, a Protestant Episcopal priest with a wife and six children, describes his work as an "offbeat ministry." His comments during an interview Wednesday bore out the description:

Feel Better — "This guy had just been rolled of $800 and somebody referred him to me. I didn't get the $800 back but I think I made him feel a little better about losing it."

A young couple who had been living together for six months saw the sign in the window and came up out of curiosity. Three days later I married them."

A lot of drunks wander in. They need to get some swill in them before they can talk about their problems."

Piano Player A piano player of sorts, he started his unusual pastorate as the result of his friendship with many of the Rush Street nightclub musicians.

In September, after "talking and talking and talking," Father Owen got permission from Bishop Gerald F. Burrill of the Diocese of Chicago to start a "night pastorate."

He set up quarters above a restaurant and next door to a bar featuring calypso music.

Those who come to see him have family problems, marital problems, problems with liquor or narcotics, but basically they are bothered about religion.

"Usually they've been in the church earlier in their lives but have dropped out. Now they're looking for something — what they're really looking for is God," he said.

Legionnaires To Confer in Green Bay

The 1965 annual mid-winter conference of the Wisconsin American Legion is being held this weekend at the Northland Hotel in Green Bay. State Commander Robert T. Lekiem of Wausau will preside.

Dear Heloise

Let's take a minute of our time to discuss babies. . . especially where there are several of them!

Naturally, the budget gets low and we have to stretch and save anywhere we can. Babies sometimes come faster than our budget stretches.

Some little tykes still like their baby beds as they get older (don't know what it is but psychologists say and write that).

Now what are you going to do when it's time for the next baby and the oldest doesn't want a new bunk or single bed?

I don't suggest going out and buying a youth bed for that little angel. Why waste money? Utilize it if at all possible.

Here's a little thought that many mamas and papas might appreciate: Why not saw the legs off that baby bed so that it lowers to about 12 inches from the floor? Baby will love it. Why?

Because he can crawl into it all by himself, have his own home smells and familiar sleeping surroundings that he is used to!

The adjustable side of the bed can be removed easily (or left on for a few months until he gets used to his new lower bed) and that sweet tyke can flop into his own sweet surroundings when he needs to sleep or rest.

Later, as your babe grows, remove the other side of the bed and your precious one will have his own youth bed. This plastic foam hair-roller leaves just the head and foot on the bed. . . just like Mother's Community hall for a business meeting, social hour and potluck supper.

This will allow him to get used to sleeping in a bed

Sheinwold Magic Can Help Bad Hand

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD National Men's Team Champion

Bridge players who are opposed to sin of all kinds should read the rest of today's column with only one eye. We're about to discuss how you can make a contract that no honest man should make.

An honest man can make only eight tricks with this hand. When he leads spades in an attempt to take a ninth trick, the opponents get three spades and two diamonds.

This is a shame. Virtue should be rewarded. But we live in a sinful world, and the only way to make three notrump with this hand is to play it wickedly.

You must take advantage of human nature, remembering that it is the nature of opponents to oppose. If you push, they pull; and vice (excuse the expression) versa.

Wicked Play Win the first trick in dummy with the jack of hearts and lead the three of diamonds from dummy. You plan to "finesse" with the ten of diamonds.

You expect to lose this finesse, of course, but you also expect the opponents to stay away from diamonds for the rest of the hand. In fact, the chances are that West will immediately switch to spades in a desperate attempt to get five tricks before you make the game.

If West switches to spades and continues the suit, you will get your ninth trick. Since this is a sinful way to make the hand, take out your handkerchief and sympathize with the opponents. I will make them feel better.

Don't overdo this type of play. You can seldom flummox the opponents into abandoning a suit just because you lead it first. But keep this in the back of your mind in case of need. When fair means fail, try foul.

Daily Question Partner opens the bidding with one club, and the next player passes. You hold: S—K 10 9 5, H—6 4, D—K J 7 4, C—8 6 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one diamond. With two biddable four-card suits, reopened in the cheaper suit. If partner now bids one heart, you can still show the spades at the level of one.

Dear Heloise: Leftover rubber-based paint (there's usually some) can be rolled easily with a roller onto the backs of small throw rugs that have grown limp.

It doesn't skid-proof them, but does stiffen them so they don't get humps in them when walked on, as limp ones do.

Be sure to let the paint dry thoroughly before putting the rug down.

Mrs. R.E. Lehnhardt

Dear Heloise: So the kids don't like the hard-cooked white of eggs in potato salad?

Scramble the eggs, chop them up and mix them into the salad!

Mrs. D.N. Robins

Hey, hey, and a hi-de-ho! And a do-you-know-what? Not only will the children be eating the whole egg, but the salad is more attractive.

Dear Heloise: A handy gadget to carry in your handbag to pick up lint, brush cloth shoes, etc., is a plastic foam hair-roller.

It's compact, washable, flexible and a cheerful, bright color to spot in a crowded purse.

Your Problems Ann Suggests Ginger Ale to Cure Feuding Friends' Ailment

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine showed up at a dinner party in a green sequin dress that resembled fish scales. She was wearing a yellow gold necklace — a life-like replica of a snake, complete with emerald eyes. From her ears hung a couple of jeweled turtles. To top it off she had a butterfly clip in her hair. She was a sight with all that animal life on her.

Later in the evening (after she had had a few drinks) she came over in a belligerent mood and said, "You haven't said anything about the way I look." I had had a few drinks, too, and replied, "I think you look hideous, now that you mention it."

Her husband caught her arm just as she was about to hit me. As he led her away she shouted, "You've always been a jealous cat. Don't ever speak to me again."

I really do like her in spite of her big mouth. We have been friends since high school. What do you recommend in a case like this? — E. T.

DEAR E. T.: Both you ladies(?) ought to stick to ginger ale.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My 18-year-old sister got herself into a jam and had to go stay with my aunt who lives in Ohio. This has knocked our family for a loop. Mom, who has been depending on her older brother for advice and help since our dad died three years ago, cries all the time.

Uncle is very strict and old-fashioned. He is making home a jail for my 17-year-old sister and me. (I am 15.) He has told mom we should not have any dates. We are allowed to go to school functions only if he drives us over and comes to get us.

Uncle says a girl should not go out with boys until she is ready to get married, and that means 21 years old. Please print your advice. If anyone ever needed help, we do—Prisoners at Home

Dear Prisoners: Keeping girls cooped up is no way to insure good behavior. It usually produces opposite results.

Girls who feel restricted tend to go hog wild once they get loose. They are determined to do everything they have been told they should not do — just to "get even."

Summing up: High school girls should be permitted to date provided they are reliable and trustworthy. This means adhering to a curfew and going out only with boys who have been properly introduced to the family. I hope this helps.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I sure do get a kick out of your column. What is the matter with the wives in this country anyway? They are the most suspicious bunch of females in the whole world.

Almost every day some dizzy dame will write in and say, "I think my husband is fooling around but I'm not sure." Why do they always want to believe the worst of a guy?

I keep a razor in my locker at the plant and sometimes I shave before I leave for home. Mine is one of those heavy beards and I have to shave twice a day if I want to look right.

Whenever I do this my wife accuses me of meeting someone after work — especially if I come home a little later than the usual six o'clock. Aren't some women nuts? — Square Shooter

Dear Shooter: Yes — and some men are a little nuts, too. What's so special about that ride home that you have to shave for it? Since your wife would rather see you home at six o'clock with a five o'clock shadow, why not make her happy?

Too many many starry-eyed lovers do not know the difference. Do you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1966)

Appleton High School unleashed a devastating zone defense and well-balanced, machine-like offense en route to an overwhelming 90-34 Fox River Valley Conference victory over Fond du Lac here Friday night.

The Terrors remained in a second place tie with Green Bay West, both 6-2, in FRVC ranks. Pace-setting Manitowoc (7-1) defeated Sheboygan North, 84-74. Appleton is 8-2 overall.

Coach Dick Emanuel's entire starting unit hit double figures in the scoring column with Bruce (Moose) Miller heading the list with 19. John Mummie was next in line with 15, followed by Bob Ness, 12 and Neil Weber and Mark Tepper, 10 apiece.

Play 19 Minutes
Reserves Steve Winters and Gary Volkman tallied eight apiece as the entire 13-man team saw action. The regulars played just under 19 minutes of the game. Al Koepke was the lone Cardinal in double digits with 14.

Each of the starters scored a basket on the way to a 10-2 lead with 5:58 to play in the first period, indicating the equally distributed scoring yet to come. AHS lead, 25-5, at period's end as the Cardinals could muster but two of 11 floor attempts against the rugged Appleton zone defense.

Weber's reverse layup (after a perfect pass from reserve Tom Jooss) gave AHS a 41-9 lead with 2:55 to intermission. The Terrors split the nets on 23 of 33 from the field in that span. Gary Volkman's long jump shot from the side with 51 seconds left in the half was the only AHS score in the final 2:55 of the first half. Appleton led, 43-15 at halftime.

Steve Winters swished a long set shot with 2:33 left in the game to give AHS its largest bulge of the night, 59 points, at 88-29.

Appleton finished with an even 50 per cent shooting mark on 41 of 82 floor attempts. Each of the starters hit over the 50 per mark in a remarkable display of shooting.

Individually, it was Miller, 8 of 12; Weber, 5 of 9; Ness, 6 of 9; Mummie, 7 of 12 and Tepper, 5 of 9. Volkman and Winters hooped 4 of 6 from the field to lead the reserves.

Fond du Lac finished with 13 baskets in 47 tries for a 27.7 percentage.

The Terrors completely dominated the boards (with Weber leading the way) as well as all phases of the game.

Shoot 59 Per Cent in Second Half, En Route to Third M-E Win

BY JIM HARP

KAUKAUNA — Pouring in field goals at a 59 per cent clip in the second half, the Kaukauna High School cagers rolled to a 89-61 Mid-Eastern Conference victory over New London here Friday night.

The Ghosts scored an even 50 points in the last two periods, 22 in the third stanza and 28 in the fourth as they evened their league record at 3-3. New London dropped to a 2-4 mark and it was the fourth successive M-E defeat for the Bulldogs.

Coach Ken Vander Velden's Kaukauna quintet bagged nine of 28 shots in the first half for 32 per cent and then roared away with 20 of 34 shots from the field in the final 16 minutes of action.

Lead Assault
Don Biseix and Mike Andrews led the second half assault for the Ghosts. Biseix connected on all six of his field goal tries while Andrews pumped in eight of 11 from the floor.

Andrews took game scoring honors for the victors with 11 field goals and six free throws. He started slowly, getting only two free throws in the opening period and finished the first half with 10 points. Biseix had five of his eight field goals in the last quarter and finished the game with 17 markers.

New London's Len Lathrop, the leading scorer in the conference, padded his point total by swishing 19 field goals and adding 12 of 15 charity tries for 32 points.

MENASHA — Xavier's undefeated Hawks suffered from a comedy of errors in the fourth period, and a well-coached Menasha St. Mary unit melted a 51-30 Xavier lead to only a 62-52 Hawk victory at the Menasha High School Gymnasium here Friday night.

The comedy of errors, which wasn't the least bit funny to Xavier coach Gene "Torchy" Clark, began after Pete Vandenberg tallied his only basket of the game to give the Hawks a 55-36 advantage at the start of the final stanza. A hustling Zephyr crew went on to tally the next 10 points in a row and cut the margin to nine points.

A pair of fielders by Paul Springer, with just under four minutes remaining in the game, and a free throw by Paul Rechner gave Xavier a 60-46 lead and left little doubt as to the winner.

Scores 24 Points
Dependable Tom Rankin led the assault with 24 points, on seven baskets and 10 of 15 free throws. Rechner came next with 10 points and Springer followed with nine.

Mike Heroux tallied 21 to pace the Zephyrs. Kim Vanderhyden and Mike Gage each added another eight markers to the loser's total.

The hustling Zephyr attack suffered from fouls, with Dave Koerner being assigned his limit in the third period and Vanderhyden and Heroux getting their fifth in the final four minutes of the game.

It was a close battle until the final three minutes of the first half when Xavier zoomed from a 23-20 lead to a 29-20 advantage, and then to the halftime 33-22 margin.

The Hawks shot 32 per cent, on 22 of 68 attempts, while the Zephyrs hit on 19 of 61 shots for 31 per cent. St. Mary made 14 of 25 free throws and Xavier netted 18 of 29.

Jays Crush Rockets, Capture Sole M-E Lead as Truckers Upset Papermakers

Menasha '5' Romps to 72-45 Victory

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY

NEENAH—Menasha played what was close to a perfect ball game here Friday night, throttling Neenah, 72-45, and coupled with Kimberly's loss to Clintonville, it gave them undisputed possession of the Mid-Eastern Conference lead.

The Bluejay regulars limited the Rockets to a mere 28 points before retiring with about half of the last period gone. Menasha had 67 at the time.

The Menashians, in recording the third straight victory over their twin cities foe, hit over the Neenah defense and when the latter tried to press in the last period, they made the fast break go.

The victors wound up with 43 per cent accuracy from the floor, but the starters were close to 50 per cent when they left. They had accumulated eight of 11 in the final stanza. The Menashians were equally as effective from the free throw line, sinking 12 of 14.

Bluejays Rebound
The stingy defense kept the Rockets on the outside and when they missed a long shot, a Menashian was usually on hand to gobble up the rebound. Seldom were the Jays called for traveling or similar violations.

The Rockets never were able to get their offense off the ground. They missed the first eight shots they took and only connected once in 14 first quarter attempts. From the floor, they were five of 29 at halftime and, thanks to a finish which netted 13 of the last 16 points of the contest, they finished with 31 per cent (19-61).

The losers were equally as cold from the charity line, putting in but seven of 17.

Take 8-0 Lead

The Bluejays moved to an 8-0 lead and held the Red and White scoreless for the first 5:12 of the game. It was 14-3 at

Colleges Likely to Return to 2-Platoon Football in '65 Season

Committee Holds Secret Sessions To Discuss Rule

BY BEN FUNK

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — College coaches will be able to play honest, two-platoon football next season.

They probably will not get the blank check for free and unlimited substitution they have demanded for a dozen years. But the weird spectacle of a team deliberately jumping offside or delaying the game to beat the rule apparently will be seen no more.

This seemed a sure bet Saturday as the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association began its second day of secret sessions.

After about eight hours of debate Friday, the committee threw out all except two proposals for changes in the substitution rule.

Backed by Coaches
One would bring back the unrestricted rule in effect prior to 1953. This one is backed by 90 per cent of the nation's coaches. The other would allow substitution of full platoons whenever the ball changes hands and the replacement of two players at any time.

The committee members have been told not to express their opinions outside the meeting room. But an off-the-record sampling of sentiment indicated that the second rule is the one likely to pass.

Many administrators and athletic directors feel that what the coaches want is not necessarily best for the game. Some, like Committee Chairman Ivan Williamson, believe that a player is best served if he is taught to play the game both ways.

But the demands for two-platoon football is so great the committee will go along with it. The rule expected to pass would kill the gimmick coaches used last year to get in their defensive units on fourth down.

Platoon substitution was allowed only between quarters and while the clock was stopped. Rather than waste a time out, coaches ordered a deliberate rule violation and took a five-yard penalty to stop the clock and switch units before punting.

The proposed rule, Williamson said, will require more coaching of offensive teams on punt coverage but will eliminate the need for cheating on the rule.

Williamson, while doubting that the committee would make the coaches "really happy," said he thought this rule would be well received.

The committee defeated by a 13-8 vote a proposal that coaches be allowed to confer with one of their players on the sidelines during a charged time out.

It also rejected 23-0 a proposal that teams behind in the score be given the option of receiving after every score and at halftime.

Bill Austin Signs as Ram Line Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Austin, who quit as Green Bay Packers offensive line coach this week, has been hired by the Los Angeles Rams to replace Ray Wietecha, it was announced Friday.

Wietecha resigned from the Rams for personal reasons. Austin played guard in the National Football League for the New York Giants.

He was line coach at the University of Wichita in 1958, then in 1959, when Vince Lombardi was made head coach at Green Bay. Austin joined the staff and remained six years.

Clemente Has Thigh Surgery

SAN JUAN, P. R. (AP) — Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh's National League batting champion, underwent an operation Friday for removal of a blood clot in his right thigh. The operation was termed successful.

The 29-year-old outfielder said he would leave the hospital in two or three days but will not resume working out for two weeks.

Clemente has been managing the San Juan Senators in Puerto Rico's Winter Baseball League. He said he still plans to take a team of Puerto Ricans and Cubans on a three-game trip to the Dominican Republic and Venezuela.

Knox jumped off to an early lead and maintained a 10-point spread throughout most of the opening half. The victors pulled away midway through the second half to the more decisive margin.

BC Gets AFL Rights for Next 5 Years

Players Ask Owners To Stabilize Shares In Playoff Games

JACK HAND
HOUSTON (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. has announced its investment in the American Football League to a contract for the next five years.

The network purchased the year rights to the league's game and All-Star attractions for more than $7 million a year. NBC previously included a five-year, $36 million investment in regular season AFL games.

The All-Star contract was announced during the AFL's winter meetings and announced by Carl Lindemann Jr., vice president of NBC Sports. The contract calls for a sliding fee, with $500,000 for the first year, increasing to an estimated $2.2 million in the fifth year.

Proceeds of the playoff and All-Star games will go toward player pension plan, making payments comparable to those of the National Football League. The NFL has one year to go to a two-year, $3.5 million television pact with the Columbia Broadcasting System for its championship playoff. CBS also televises regular season NFL games at $1.4 million per-year.

Under the suggestion, a definite amount of television money would be earned for the players involved. That would increase the winners' share to $250,000 for the winners and $20,000 for the losers, and $20,000 and losing shares of $10,000 and $5,000 respectively. This manner of distribution would make it unimportant to the players whether the game is played in a big stadium, Shea in New York, or in a smaller park like Boston's.

The AFL stands ready to cooperate with all in that common interest. "For one league or association to make promises of independent action," said Foss, "is not the solution to the problems that are equally disturbing to all."

"The AFL stands ready to cooperate with all in that common interest." Foss issued a typewritten statement from the closed AFL meeting in which he said there were numerous points in the NCAA report that required a full airing and mutual consideration of all.

"For one league or association to make promises of independent action," said Foss, "is not the solution to the problems that are equally disturbing to all."

"The AFL stands ready to cooperate with all in that common interest."

The college group also called on the pros to insist that none of their teams sign a college player before his eligibility has been completed, and to cooperate in reporting any violations.

Under the suggestion, a definite amount of television money would be earned for the players involved. That would increase the winners' share to $250,000 for the winners and $20,000 for the losers, and $20,000 and losing shares of $10,000 and $5,000 respectively. This manner of distribution would make it unimportant to the players whether the game is played in a big stadium, Shea in New York, or in a smaller park like Boston's.

AFL Makes No Commitment On Signings

Wants Meeting With NFL and NCAA

HOUSTON (AP) — Commissioner Foss said Friday the American Football League will make no commitments on the National Collegiate Athletic Association's recommendations on pro-college relations until all parties concerned, including the National Football League, have a joint meeting.

The NFL announced Tuesday that it would not sign college players until that player's team had completed its schedule, including post-season bowl games.

Foss issued a typewritten statement from the closed AFL meeting in which he said there were numerous points in the NCAA report that required a full airing and mutual consideration of all.

"For one league or association to make promises of independent action," said Foss, "is not the solution to the problems that are equally disturbing to all."

"The AFL stands ready to cooperate with all in that common interest."

The college group also called on the pros to insist that none of their teams sign a college player before his eligibility has been completed, and to cooperate in reporting any violations.

Under the suggestion, a definite amount of television money would be earned for the players involved. 6 Prep Teams Climb Over 100 Mark

7-Foot Hendrickson Hits 53 Points; Monroe Wins

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Six of Wisconsin's high school basketball teams scored more than 100 points each in games Friday night, and three players added to the scoring spree by dumping in at least 50 points apiece.

The highest scoring of all came in the Goodman-Laona game with Goodman winning 127-95. Five Goodman players scored in double figures were paced by Joe Millan with 36 points. Bill La Chaille added 33, and Ron Dernacki led four Laona shooters in double figures with 28.

Holmen's 7-foot Eino Hendrickson poured in 53 points in a 103-69 victory over Gale-Ethrick. Clem Wallenkamp also hit for 53 points in leading Three Lakes past Phelps 104-39.

Other super-scoring games were Watertown 108 Horicon 75, Cumberland 106 Hayward 42, Juneau 101 Waterloo 67.

Another Wisconsin team was on the short end of a plus-100 score, Beloit Turner bowing 103-52 to Marengo, Ill.

On the other end of the scoring scale was Alma's 25-17 victory over Gilmanston.

The third big individual scorer was Tomah's Ron Grovesteen, who hit for 50 points in a 96-57 triumph over Sparta. Manawa defeated Marion 86-62 as Dan Stinbach scored 46 points to tie the Central Wisconsin Conference record.

Grafton posted its 34th consecutive Scenic Moraine Conference victory, beating North Fond du Lac 78-46. Mukwonago won its 17th in a row in Braveland Conference action, downing Oak Creek 96-45. Appleton Xavier ran its season string to 15 straight by winning its ninth in Fox Valley Catholic Conference play in tripping Menasha St. Mary's 62-52.

Schofield continued to struggle fruitlessly in the Wisconsin Valley Conference, losing its 25th league game in a row over three seasons in bowing 65-51 to Wisconsin Rapids.

Wittenberg was dropped from the unbeaten ranks 69-67 after winning nine in a row, seven of them in the Central Wisconsin Conference. Stevens Point dropped its first Wisconsin Valley game in seven starts, losing 62-58 to Marshfield which overcame a 14-point deficit to snap the Panthers' eight-game losing streak. However, Stevens Point retained the league lead. Manitowish hung on to the Fox Valley lead by beating its record to 7 and 1 by pusing Shiocton 84-74. Oshkosh, which on its first four Fox Valley starts, lost its fourth in a row when beaten 75-53 by Green Bay West.

Monroe won its 10th straight by beating Fort Atkinson 93-71 in a Badger Conference game, but Waubesa was upset after seven straight triumphs in the Milwaukee Suburban Conference when beaten 59-58 by Whitefish Bay.

Hilbert's pace-setting Wolves rolled to its sixth straight Little Nine Conference victory with a 67-44 verdict over Wrightstown Friday night.

Reedsville and Winneconne retained shares of the runner-up spot with victories on opponents' courts. Reedsville surprised Freedom, 73-57, while Winneconne dispatched Denmark, 62-47. Hortonville rolled over Bear Creek, 92-47, and Omro leveled Shiocton, 93-62.

Hilbert jumped off to an 11-5 first quarter lead and was never threatened as they utilized every member of the traveling squad in its predictable defeat of the Tigers.

The Wolves' starters sustained a balanced scoring attack while they were in the game with Jim Diener and Andy Schaeffer each scoring 15 points, and Francis Wolf contributing 14. Bob Schmidt led Wrightstown with 11.

Reedsville took advantage of Freedom mistakes and helped its own cause by shooting a withering 76 per cent from the floor in the second half.

points, to up the score to 37-30. Kurt Holm and Ed Dahly accounted for the spree. Reider's basket at the buzzer closed the first half, and the Truckers led, 37-32.

In the third quarter, Holm hit two buckets, and the Truckers shot off to a 9-point lead, 51-42. The score was 52-48 at the quarter's end.

The final quarter was a seesaw affair until Gary VanCuyk popped in his only field goal of the night for Kimberly, making the score 57-54 in favor of Clintonville with 3:48 to play. This was as close as the Papermakers were able to come, because a level-headed Truckster team was able to successfully stall out the remainder of the game. Don Thompson, Dahly, and Dieck were hot from the charity line, as Kimberly fouled trying to get the ball. At one juncture, Clintonville made seven more straight points and amassed an eleven point lead, 66-55.

The game was pretty well sewed up for the Truckers, but three baskets by Meyer during the final two minutes made the score close at 67-62.

Meyer took game scoring honors with 24 points despite sitting out a portion of the third period with four fouls. Jim Vanden Boogaard was runner-up for the losers with 12 points.

For the jubilant Truckers scoring ace Terry Deem set the pace with 22 points. Teammates Dahly and Holm added 15 and 12, respectively.

Clintonville had a slight rebounding edge, 37-35. Dieck pulled down 13 for the victors, while Meyer grabbed 13 also for Kimberly.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Former Milwaukee feels the civic-minded leaders of the Milwaukee Braves and baseball enthusiasts should consider the long-range results in the event attendance this summer suffers as much as generally predicted.

UCLA Cops 12th Straight Victory

Arizona, Southern California, and Washington Score Cage Win

BY TED MEIER
More and more it is beginning to appear that Illinois may have cost UCLA a second straight 30-0 unbeaten season in college basketball, a feat that would have equaled San Francisco's 60-game all-time winning streak.

Illinois beat the national champions 110-83 in the opening game of the season early in December at Champaign. Since then the top-ranked Bruins have bowled over 12 straight opponents including Marquette, Boston College, Southern California, Arizona, Minnesota, Utah, and California.

Their victory over California came Friday night, 76-54, and highlighted a thin national program on the college hardwoods. No other team in The Associated Press top ten saw action.

Once again it was UCLA's fast break and Gail Goodrich's all-round play that produced a 17-3 outburst in the second half and broke the game wide open. Goodrich was effective both on defense and offense in leading the Bruins to their 22nd straight victory in Pacific Athletic Conference play. He was high scorer with 23 points and three of his baskets came after he had stolen California passes.

The game was the first of a doubleheader at Los Angeles. Southern California beat Stanford 75-59 in the second game behind Allen Young's 26 points. Arizona, Washington and East Carolina scored upsets. Arizona surprised Brigham Young 75-73 at Tucson behind Warren Rustand's 27 points. The Huskies upset Oregon State 79-70 at Seattle led by Steve Olsen's 22 points and East Carolina whipped the Citadel 75-69 at Wilmington, N.C. behind Jerry Woodside's 23 points.

Princeton's All-America Bill Bradley became the first Ivy League player ever to score 2,000 career points as he flipped 41 against Columbia leading the Tigers to a 78-67 victory over Columbia in New York. Cornell stayed on top of the Ivy loop, by defeating Penn at Ithaca, 76-65. The Big Red is 4-0 in league play, Princeton 3-0. They play tonight at Ithaca to decide first place.

Two free throws by George Fisher in the last 34 seconds gave Utah a 97-90 triumph over Arizona State to snap a 22-game WAC home winning streak for the Sun Devils at Tempe. Fisher lead the Utes.

Braves Mishandled Move to Atlanta, Declares Lou Perini

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Former Milwaukee feels the civic-minded leaders of the Milwaukee Braves and baseball enthusiasts should consider the long-range results in the event attendance this summer suffers as much as generally predicted.

Who Will Lead the Republican Party Now?

The decision of Dean Burch to resign as national chairman of the Republican Party, with all the implications it contains as regards Barry Goldwater's leadership of the party, clears the air for a constructive approach to the rebuilding job facing the GOP for the Congressional elections in 1966 and another go-round with President Johnson in 1968.

In essence Burch himself was merely a puppet in the behind-the-scenes struggle for control of the party. Former Senator Goldwater took advantage of a vacuum in party leadership to win the nomination at the San Francisco convention. He installed Burch as his hand-picked chairman to run his campaign. Burch is undoubtedly correct when he states that Goldwater could not have won the election under any circumstances. That is why the vacuum of leadership existed. But it was not Goldwater's defeat which brought about the revolt in the party against his leadership; it was the magnitude of the defeat. And for that the party had a right to hold Goldwater and Burch responsible.

Who will take over the party leadership now? The answer is far from clear.

Ohio state chairman Ray Bliss will take over as national chairman as the choice of a number of elements within the party. Former President Eisenhower and former Vice President Nixon certainly still exert a strong voice in party affairs, but they have both turned down positions of real leadership. Nixon could have had the nomination last year if he had gone after it, and he could have had the party chairmanship this year.

Republican governors who survived the Johnson landslide are another strong element in the party. But for one reason or another none of them has stepped forward into a leadership role.

The third strong element is the Republican survivors in the Congress, mainly in the House because that is the focus for the next national election. There are stirrings evident there of men willing to lead, of which our own Rep. Melvin Laird is a good example.

These elements will have to combine forces in a dynamic effort to rebuild the party's image if the two-party system in this country is to be preserved. The removal of Burch and Goldwater from the scene makes this possible. But it does not guarantee that it will take place.

The FCC and the First Amendment

If the United States Congress passed a law requiring radio and television stations to carry a certain amount of religious programs in order to qualify for broadcasting licenses, the nation would rise up in wrath. It is difficult indeed to see how the United States Supreme Court could uphold such a law in view of the First Amendment's firm statement that Congress shall make no law regarding the establishment of religion. Supreme Court decisions in fact have expanded the constitutional effort to separate church and state to mean that no governmental body shall establish rules concerning religion except in such areas as health and safety which affect other safeguards of Americans.

But by inference the Federal Communications Commission is up to its elbows in regulating religious programs on radio and television stations. And the FCC, established by Congress, is an agency of government.

An applicant for a television or radio license must outline the various types of programs it plans to offer and the time allotted to each. When applying for license renewal every three years, the station must again show what time was given to religious programs and also whether the time was free or commercial. The FCC has never turned down an application on the grounds of no religious programming but it has never really been challenged on the matter. As discussed by Marcus Cohn in Reporter magazine, the FCC has stated that one religious programming was superior to that of another either because of diversity or because the program was not commercial. "Through the practice of making comparative judgments in this category, the commission has clearly implied that religious programming could be a decisive factor if two or more applicants were equally qualified on all other points."

Moreover, according to Cohn, the FCC has sometimes appeared to favor one type of religious program or denomination over another. This is particularly true, he writes, as concerns "the programming of small and unorthodox religious groups."

The FCC has also made it clear that if a station is owned or controlled by one particular denomination—as several stations in this area are—the variety of its religious programming is especially important. Perhaps the authority of the FCC, as outlined by Congress, means it is supposed to determine that viewers and listeners have the opportunity to tune in to a wide variation of programs. In one case at least, the FCC answered a complaint by deciding that a station should give some time to an atheist viewpoint when so requested. But if there were only two churches in a small town—say a Catholic and a Methodist—what right would any government agency on any level have in ordering those churches to present Jewish, Mormon and Seventh Day Adventist services in addition to their own so that everyone would have an opportunity for his preference?

It may be quite true that Americans need religion, that they should listen to religious programs and moreover that they want to. But for a government agency to require that such programs be offered is certainly a violation in spirit at least of the First Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Advantage to the Rich

There has been considerable publicity about and criticism of the election campaign of Richard Ottinger for the United States Congress in New York state. Ottinger beat his Republican opponent. When expenses and contributions were announced, it turned out that Ottinger had spent about $200,000 and a great deal of it came from his own family.

By law a candidate's family is supposed to be restricted to a contribution of $5,000. But the big loophole which Ottinger flagrantly used limits the $5,000 contribution to one particular organization supporting the candidate. Ottinger merely set up a proliferation of committees and his mother and sister enthusiastically contributed near their limit to each one.

In a letter to the New York Times, Congressman Ottinger complains about the unfriendly attitude of the press. He cites the immense expense of running for public office and the advantage to be overcome when opposing an incumbent. But nowhere does he concede that his device to spend his family's money was certainly contrary to the spirit if not the letter of the law.

Ottinger's case is really only one of many and so is the evasion. The costs of campaigning by direct mail and various media advertising have become so high that wealthy men and women appear to have a distinct advantage. The contributions of labor unions whatever their members may feel is an evasion. Republican Chairman Dean Burch emphasized the problem when he warned that his loss of position might also mean the loss of a lot of conservative contributors to the Republican coffers.

Ottinger now nobly states he is backing the proposal made by President Kennedy—who enjoyed his own family's millions in his bids for office—of a $15 tax credit and maximum $1,000 deductibility for political contributions as a way of encouraging more public support of candidates. This might be an assist for wider contributions but it won't stop the personal contributions or the advantage to the richer candidate. Ethics do not seem to be of major importance to some in American political campaigns.

BY MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Down Pennsylvania Avenue they'll come Jan. 20, flags waving, horses prancing, 60 or more bands blaring and marchers stepping it off—hup, two three, four.

Only events transcendent will stop them from making that historic march from the Capitol to the White House behind the nation's newly inaugurated president.

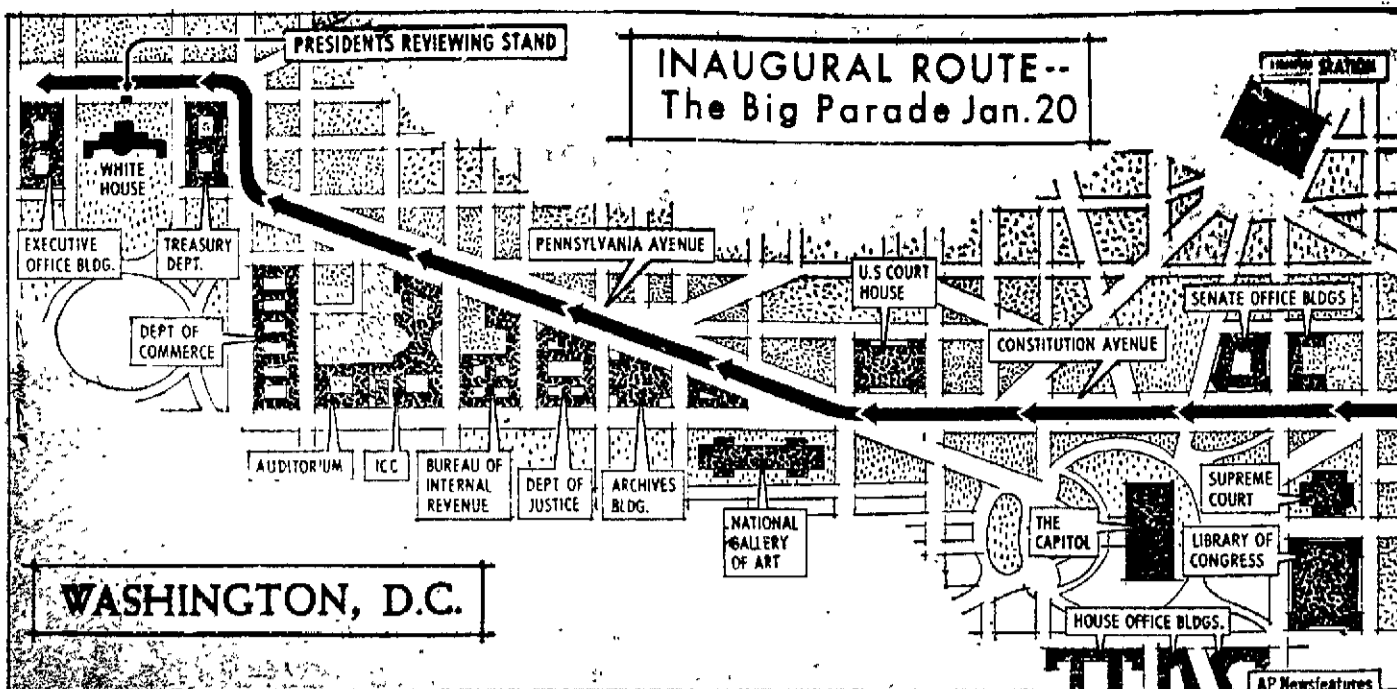

The inaugural parade, 125 years old this year, has become one of the traditions of this country, as much a part of it as the Old Glory that leads it.

The parade for Lyndon B. Johnson and Hubert H. Humphrey promises no startling departure from the tradition that has grown up, except for an attempt to reverse the trend toward longer and longer parades.

30-Inch Steps

Orders have gone out that all marchers, military and civilian alike, are expected to mark it off with 30-inch steps at 120 steps a minute. Bands can't exceed 100 members, marching units 180 members. Floats can't be over 50 feet long.

All this planning is a far cry from that first inaugural parade in 1841 when William Henry Harrison took the oath of office. History says his campaign had been one of almost continual processions.

So many marching organizations came to the inauguration that, after they had escorted him to the White House, they tramped up and down Pennsylvania Avenue for hours in sheer exuberance.

All the planning can't guarantee there'll be no surprises—like the cowboy in the parade who lassoed President Eisenhower in 1953.

Such a trick will be impossible this time, for the President's reviewing stand in front of the white House will be enclosed in armored plate and bullet-proof glass. Millions watching on television remember that little white dog who caught the spirit in 1957 and joined the march all the way past the President.

The 1949 parade included a live skunk on a leash and at the end a wheezing old steam calliope tooting "The Mis-souri Waltz" for Harry Truman.

No one who saw it in 1961 can forget the joy on John F. Kennedy's face when he spotted a replica of PT 109, the Navy boat he commanded in wartime, lumbering down the street. The parade had to stop while Kennedy called out to his old shipmated aboard it.

The 1965 inaugural committee has asked that state floats be in keeping with some part of Johnson's "Great Society," such as the Peace Corps.

But states being states, some local pride undoubtedly will creep in. One year it was bathing beauties, shivering in the cold, throwing oranges from the Florida float.

The old traditions are ready—the stiff rows of marching men from the five service academies behind their bands, the units of the armed services behind their bands, the flags of all the states and territories, the fife and drum corps of the Third Infantry, the traditional presidential escort.

Other units so far approved show it's going to be as typically American as Americans make an inaugural parade—the Sheriff's Mounted Posse of Jefferson County, Colorado; the Doland, S. D., High School band; the Wayne Hose Company No. 1, Inc., Stony Point, N. Y.; the Ballerinas Marching Unit of Jacksonville State Teachers College of Alabama and the "Bill Williams Mountain Men of Arizona" to mention a few.

Hopefully Legislature Will Return to Normal Schedule

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Legislative habits ranging from commercial lobbyists, state agency "liaison agents" as they are politely known and such lesser breeds as statehouse correspondents may probably be excused if they are hoping that the new legislature will return to the traditional schedule of handling its business.

Wyngaard

The new legislature, in fact, may have some members who are surprised to find that they are being greeted by something like ennui by the legislative sidelines. Normally there is an air of excitement and expectation when newly elected lawmakers assemble to take their seats for a season of writing and repealing laws. But this year there is a feeling of anticlimax. The 1963 legislature spent so many days in Madison, in so many separate sessions, that there is not the usual warmth of greeting for the 1965 body which is in fact a new session with about a normal turnover of membership.

LONGEVITY

The historical record will show that the 1963 legislature did not in fact adjourn from the day it convened in early January two years ago, until it expired through the force of the constitution Jan. 12. Many ordinary citizens who remember that there was a time not long ago when the legislature met for half a year or so and then returned home are not clear about the causes of this change.

There was once a rule that the legislature started getting restless about the time of corn planting in mid-Wisconsin. That would mean about June 1. In more recent times the lawmakers tended to tarry a little longer. But a seven-month sitting, under ordinary circumstances, would be sufficient to take care of the ordinary legislative business if the representatives were so disposed, and is in fact a longer period than is used in most of the legislatures of the country.

The longevity of the sessions in recent years and the recordbreaker just ended with formal demise of the 1963 legislature relate to partisan politics rather than to the pressure of business, the growth of government, the complexity of public problems, or even the wishes of the individual members.

It may be that longer sessions are inevitable in the future, say seven months to eight months, because the public business has become more difficult to handle. But the deliberate artifice of keeping the legislature in session in a constitutional sense, without actually sitting in Madison, was the result of the Republican State Senate's desire to foil Democratic governors on patronage.

NO MORE

The consideration won't be relevant in the new session. The Republican Senate will trust Republican Gov. Knowles. And even if the Democrats, remembering their torments of other times, try to use their control of the Assembly to embarrass the governor, they cannot legislate unilaterally. They must have the concurrence of the Senate.

If the assumption that the legislature won't remain in session any longer than is necessary is valid, the perennial issue of compensation can be judged in fair perspective.

The new law provides a basic legislative salary of $450 a month, plus a varying schedule of "at home" allowances, and a $15 a day expense account for time spent in Madison, up to 110 days per session.

The fringe benefits can probably be ignored, since all public officials enjoy them to some degree for expenses incurred. Considering salary alone, the legislative seat is now worth $5,400 a year, or $10,800 per biennium. The 110-day limit for per diem allowances in Madison must be accepted as the legislature's determination of what is a session of reasonable length. That would be about seven months of average work weeks, so that the monthly remuneration of legislators now is something over $1,500. That is one of the generous pay scales in the country, and compares favorably with the emoluments of other public offices in Wisconsin.

How Much Can You Give To Community, Not Get

Editor, Post-Crescent:

This is an open letter to Mrs. Goerl:

You poor young thing! I feel so sorry for you... afraid of turning into an old fogey at 27 because there is nothing to do in Appleton. Your letter, so full of suggestions, does seem to consist for the most part with: "Why don't they..."

Who is they? Mrs. Goerl, I would like to make a suggestion, too. Why don't you? Appleton isn't a "they." It is composed of lots of wonderful, enthusiastic and farsighted people... like you... with plans, ideas and dreams. But it is a place where everyone works together. Mrs. Goerl, not sitting back on our own little plot of land, criticizing what others are doing.

It is unfortunate that you live outside the city limits or I am sure you would be a marvelous addition to city politics. Have you considered studying the county board? Have you ever been to a meeting to find out how they work? Are you interested in the problems of how to dispose of the airport, or the cost of an arena, or how to handle a drag strip? Have you ever talked to a traffic officer or the sheriff about adequate jail facilities and enough policemen?

Do you still have nothing to do that's fun, Mrs. Goerl?

Have you ever thought of giving a day, a week to working with disturbed children at Winnebago Mental Institution? Have you ever worked with the handicapped children at Morgan School? Have you ever volunteered your services at either of the two hospitals? Have you ever offered to help with any of the hours of work which the city planning commission puts in, every single month? Do you give hours of service to your church, Mrs. Goerl, or to your school district? They can always use your ideas. In total, Mrs. Goerl, have you ever considered what you can give to this community, not what you would like to get out of it?

U. N. Support Reaffirmed By League of Women Voters

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In your editorial of January 6th you discussed some of the weaknesses of the United Nations. In recent years the U. N. has been one of the major program concerns of the League of Women Voters of the United States. In the course of our study, we have recognized that, while the U. N. is far from being a perfect instrument, it has performed some significant services in the cause of peace.

By its "presence" the U. N. has kept the peace in many places and in many ways. Observation, fact-finding, conciliation at an early stage, as in Kashmir and Yemen, have frequently kept international disputes from blowing up into bitter conflict. An organization which reflects today's tense and troubled times cannot be free from conflicts of interest—and errors. It has, however, conducted notably successful military actions as part of its peacekeeping mission—as in Lebanon and on the Israeli-U.A.R. border.

Less generally recognized is the effectiveness of U. N. efforts to create the basic conditions for a stable world through economic and social programs. More than two-thirds of the money contributed to the U. N. is spent in these fields through such agencies as the U. N. Children's Fund, the International Development Association, and the World Health Organization.

The United Nations does have world-wide prestige. The fact that the new nations of Asia and Africa immediately join the U. N. and willingly pay their dues demonstrates concretely the high value they place on U. N. membership. Most of these new nations have used their votes in the General Assembly responsibly.

We feel there is every reason to hope the U. N. will continue to make a positive contribution to international cooperation. In any case, there is no alternative in sight: the League reaffirms its support of U. S. policies to strengthen the U. N. system and its ability to keep the peace.

The 89th Congress begins its session with one question uppermost in the public mind: When will it adjourn?

He also wants to try out a high-speed train from Washington to New York to Boston—the Kennedy Empire Limited.

As Mr. Johnson describes it, the Great Society sounds expensive but kind of dull. Maybe they should put Bobby Baker in charge of debutantes.

Everybody loses. LBJ plants bushes to beautify the highways. They have to be sprayed with pesticides—which kill all the birds, which the Republicans say the Great Society is for.

House Republicans quickly settled the problem of who's going to lead. It's taking a little longer to find somebody who wants to follow.

Senators are really serious about getting things done this session. The first thing they did was give Mild Mike Mansfield a new Long whip.

Fill Under Pacific Street Bridge Doesn't Make Sense

Editor, Post-Crescent:

This letter represents the feelings of many of the residents in and around the ravine which is now marked for filling with dirt. I refer to the study which has been authorized to consider filling in beneath the Pacific Street bridge.

We recently purchased a home in Bellaire Court. One of the attractions which led us to decide was the ravine at the rear of our property. When one looks down the ravine and sees the bridge with its pleasing arches and the river beyond, certainly this is worthwhile. In fact, it is something of an unusual combination to have at one's backyard within a city! Now that we have come to enjoy this scene plus the pleasant strolling beneath the bridge, we learn that there is a danger of it being erased! Here we have been happily telling our friends in Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania and even California about our treasured find, now it is all threatened!

The silly thing about the economics (if any), about filling rather than repairing and beautifying the bridge is that the cost of the study and moving thousands of cubic yards of earth in themselves are great. Maintenance would not be eliminated either. It would be necessary to keep the banks from washing down into unsightly messes. What too, about the drainage on the North side of the bridge? We could face an uncontrollable increase in the mosquito population!

I believe this proposal to fill in is one which lacks thoughts of utility, beauty and real economies including property values which could be affected in such a degrading move. There are few enough natural beauty spots in Appleton, why destroy those which do exist? People "around" the bridge are not too highly impressed with the proposed plan.

I would sincerely believe when the City Council at large learns how much we all appreciate our pretty surroundings, they will drop the whole idea and move to rebeautify the bridge. Future landscaping in the area will prove to all Appleton that careful, long term planning will retain and emphasize those few lovely spots within our city.

Rebel Report on Capture of Fort

10 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Visitor for Jan. 26, 1865.

The Richmond Whig of this morning (Jan. 17) contains the following account of the capture of Fort Fisher by and naval forces of the United States.

"The unwelcome news of the fall of Fort Fisher, commanding the entrance to Cape Fear River, was received this morning, and occasioned a sensation of profound regret."

"The capture is equal to the closing of the harbor of Wilmington by the enemy's fleet. The Fort is situated about 18 miles below the city, but was the main defense to the entrance of the river. Its fall will prevent in future the arrival and departure of blockade runners."

"How far this reverse may prove injurious to our cause (southern) remains to be seen, but at present we regard it rather as an unfortunate rather than a disastrous event."

"The following is the official report of R. E. Lee:

"Headquarters, Jan. 16—Gen Bragg reports that the enemy has bombarded Fort Fisher furiously all day yesterday."

"At 4 p.m. their infantry advanced to the assault, a heavy demonstration at the same hour being made against their rear by our troops. At 6 1/2 p.m., Gen. Whiting reported their advance had failed and the garrison was being strengthened with fresh troops."

"At about 10 p.m. the fort was captured, with most of the garrison."

"No further particulars are known."

First Arrests Reported From Federal Jury

Philadelphia as snow flurries were whipped by 30-mile-an-hour winds.

Newsmen waiting outside were threatened and told "You better get the hell out of here."

At least two other persons were expected to be arrested — probably outside Mississippi — in connection with the slaying of Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, a Meridian Negro.

Secret indictments

A federal grand jury meeting at Jackson returned the secret indictments Friday.

The arrests were made both here and in Philadelphia.

At Philadelphia, 39 miles northwest of Meridian, Rainey, Price and a half-dozen others gathered at the courthouse some 30 minutes before the federal marshals arrived.

After three marshals entered the courthouse, Price came out and drove away for a brief period with a bondsman, Ray Smith.

Reportedly at the marshals' request, Rainey telephoned others about to be arrested and asked them to come to the Philadelphia courthouse. From there they drove to Meridian.

Public Health Institute Set In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — In cooperation with the city health department, the hotel and restaurant division of the state board of health will conduct a food personnel and public health institute in the city hall council rooms at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

All holders of state hotel and restaurant permits, employees and managers in the city and Outagamie County are to attend one meeting each day so that each establishment has full attendance rating.

The program is designed to better acquaint employees and managers serving the public in the correct procedure in handling food, food preparation and storage, refrigeration, personal hygiene and public health and prevention of food poisoning.

Special instructions will be given on proper methods to be followed regarding the cleansing and sanitizing of all eating and drinking utensils which regulations are mandatory in the operation of any state or city approved drinking and eating establishment.

Classes will be about one and one-half hour in length and include lectures, discussions and a color sound movie. Participating in the program will be Dr. George Behnke, Kaukauna health officer; Mrs. Mary Yingling, city nurse; James Gertz, deputy health officer; H. W. Craig, hotel and restaurant sanitarian, and K. K. Thiede, supervisor of food personnel training institutes for the state.

Park, Recreation Joint Department Study Continues

A special study commission exploring the possibility of merging the park and recreation departments into one operation held another in a series of meetings Thursday at the city hall.

"I would say the commission is making considerable progress and should be in a position to come up with some recommendations for the council in the not too distant future," Mayor Clarence Mitchell said today.

There have been overtures to consolidate the departments over the years. In his state of the city message last April, Mitchell recommended a thorough study with an eye toward improving services, eliminating overlapping and cutting operational costs.

Once the committee finishes its study and submits a report, recommendations will be aired at a council meeting and public hearings.

Xavier Paper Staff Sells Binders to Take Place of Yearbook

The staff of the bi-weekly newspaper of Xavier High School is selling a large loose-leaf binder for permanent preservation of issues of the paper.

It is hoped that these binders will fill the lack of a yearbook at Xavier. The binders are so constructed that four years' issues of the "Prospector" can be inserted.

A white, embossed sketch of the school and the words "Xavier Prospector" decorate the dark blue leatherette cover. In preparation for sale of the binders, several changes were made in the newspaper format. It was changed to the offset method of printing, which allows the use of more illustrative material. The paper also was changed from newsprint to gloss stock.

Cooditors of the newspaper are Richard Ehlke and Mary Jane Spletter.

Quartet to Play Noted Amati Instruments

Audience at Chamber Series Thursdays To Hear Prized Violins, 'cello, Viola

A musical bonus is in store for concertgoers at the Lawrence University Chamber Series concert by the LaSalle String Quartet on Thursday. Besides hearing one of the world's leading chamber ensembles, they will also hear one of the finest matched sets of quartet instruments in existence — four Amatis.

Quartet members Walter Levin, Henry Meyer, Peter Kamnitzer and Jack Kirstein acquired the instruments in 1958 after 12 years of playing together as a concert ensemble. Since then they have played the Amatis on five international tours involving hundreds of concerts.

The instruments are dated between 1619 and 1684, and represent the craftsmanship of three members of the Amati family, and another master artisan, Andrea Guarneri.

Made by Assistant Guarneri was involved as an assistant to Nicolò Amati when he made first violinist Henry Meyer's instrument in 1648. The violin shows quite vividly the work of Guarneri who was a bolder craftsman than Amati. The violin was first brought to the U.S. around 1900 by Dwight Partello, who was then the American consul general in Europe.

The second violin was made by Nicolò Amati in 1682. A famous British instrument appraiser has written about the instrument: "This was called the 'best' Amati and was owned by an English violinist by that name for many years, and I believe came down from father to son."

The oldest of the Amatis is the viola, made in 1619 by the brothers Anthony and Jerome Amati, or — as they signed it in Latin — Antonius and Hieronymus Amati. The latter was the father of Nicolò Amati.

The last of the four Amati instruments, the cello, has the most intriguing history.

It was once the property of a famous Hungarian virtuoso, Földesi. At the time, it was erroneously known as a Stardi-vari, probably because of its close resemblance to that maker's early instruments.

Andre Kostelanetz To Conduct Sunday Philharmonic Concert

Conductor Andre Kostelanetz will mount the podium at Philharmonic hall in Lincoln Center Sunday for the New York Philharmonic's weekly concert Sunday's program will be broadcast exclusively in the Fox Cities area by WAPL Radio, a part of the Philharmonic's radio networks.

The afternoon will be climaxed by the Rimsky-Korsakoff symphonic suite "Scheherazade," including the familiar "The Sea and Sinbad's Ship," "The Young Prince and the Young Princess" and "Festival at Baghdad."

John Corigliano, the Philharmonic concert master, will be the violin soloist.

Igor Stravinsky, now a resident of Beverly Hills, Calif., is the composer of the suite from "The Firebird," also on the Sunday program.

Two other Russian composers, Glinka and Prokofiev, will be represented by the former's "Russian and Ludmilla" overture, and the latter by "The Stone Flower."

Sunday Reception To Honor Painter

A public reception honoring the Rev. John Paul Eaton, whose watercolors hang in Lawrence University's Worcester Art Center during January, will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Eaton, curate and director of Christian education at St. Mark Episcopal Church, Milwaukee, graduated from Lawrence in 1961, where he was a student in painting of Tom Dietrich. The show consists of European scenes, including many cathedrals painted on a vacation trip last summer.

The Lawrence Art Association is sponsoring the reception for university and town residents. Officers of the association are Michael Ward, Lincoln, Neb., president Nathaniel Tileston, Chicago, Ill., vice president Margo Taggart, 537 N. Union St., secretary William Prange, 750 Appleton St., Menasha, treasurer and co-social chairman Susan Frinak, Beaver Dam, and John Bohnen, 1206 E. South River St., formerly of Hinsdale, Ill.

Presiding at the coffee table will be Miss Nancy Putnam, Coldwater, Mich.

Winnebago to Study Hiring Attorney for Airport Appeal

Engeldinger Recommends Steinhilber

OSHKOSH — Hiring special counsel to represent Winnebago County in the hearing before the United States Court of Appeals on the regional airport location will be recommended by the county board's aviation committee.

The committee decided to recommend local counsel be appointed and will submit this request at the county board meeting Tuesday.

Suggested by Dist. Atty. Gerald Engeldinger for appointment as local counsel to represent Winnebago is Jack D. Steinhilber, former district attorney.

Engeldinger, in a written report to the committee, reviewed his discussions with Robert E. Lester, Washington, D. C., attorney who represented the county before the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) in the North Central Airlines service hearing.

Lester said time is of the essence because of the little time allowed for a county to file its objections.

Engeldinger also said he did not think Winnebago County could wait beyond the Jan. 19 meeting of the board to determine whether it will intervene in any Court of Appeals action brought by Outagamie County.

He wrote the report prior to learning Friday's action by the CAB on Outagamie County's request for judicial review of the CAB decision of November which designated the Winnebago County Airport as the Oshkosh-Appleton stop.

Action Costly

Lester also advised, Engeldinger continued, that participation by Winnebago County in any Court of Appeals action will be expensive. The district attorney said he had not been able to determine as yet what the expense would be. He indicated it is possible the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago may be designated to hear the case since Wisconsin is in this district.

Lester also advised that a local person be retained as counsel and that he would assist in preparation of the case if desired. The county board's resolution retaining Lester limited his services to just the CAB investigation.

Suggests Steinhilber

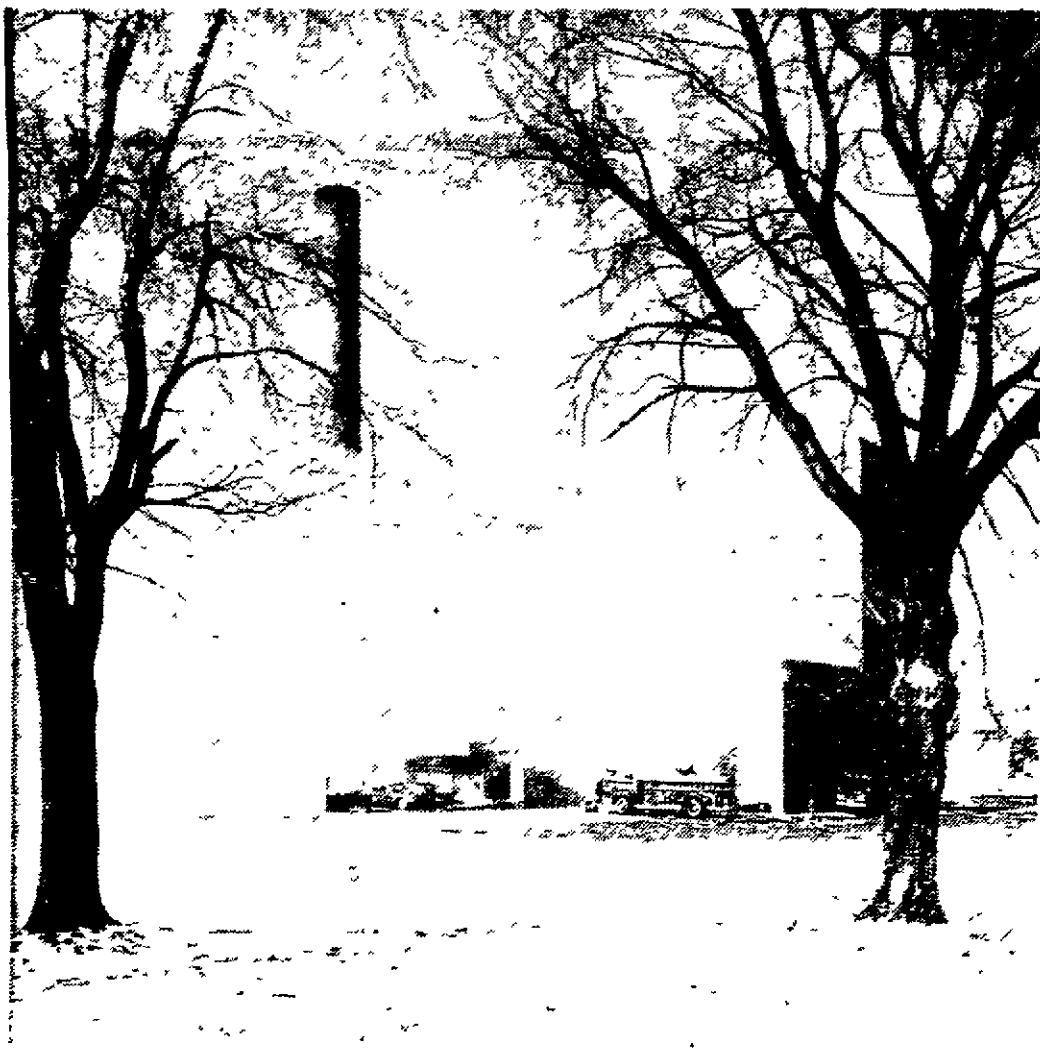

Engeldinger advised the committee that since his predecessor as district attorney, Jack D. Steinhilber, had been so active in the case, he would recommend him for appointment as special counsel.

The committee agreed to present a resolution to the board at Tuesday's meeting, but took no action as to recommending an attorney.

In another action, the aviation committee agreed to recommend that no fee be set for landings at the airport by private and itinerant aircraft because of the difficulty and considerable expense to be involved in collecting an amount that would only be nominal.

Miss Marilyn Kuhr Brings Staff to 3 in Twin Cities

NEENAH — Miss Marilyn Kuhr, R.N., has begun her duties as clinical instructor for the Neenah-Menasha Vocational and Adult School of practical nursing. She will supervise the clinical work of students at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital.

A resident of Neenah, Miss Kuhr was formerly associated with Theda Clark Memorial Hospital and received her nursing degree from the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Feb. 15 the first class of 24 students will begin the 12-month practical nursing course. The first 12 weeks of study are devoted to theory. These classes are taught at the Neenah Vocational and Adult School. The balance of the course is taught at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, Winnebago State Hospital, Winnebago County Hospital and with the Visiting Nurse Associations of Neenah-Menasha and Oshkosh.

Previously 18 women were enrolled and graduated each year from the Neenah-Menasha Vocational and Adult School of practical nursing. Aug. 25, 1964, the boards of the Neenah and Menasha Vocational and Adult Education Schools voted to increase the number to 24. The need for such an expanded program was defined when representatives from the Theda Clark Hospital board and staff met with the vocational boards and nursing school staff early last year.

At that time the need for more practical nurses now and in the future was reviewed. Miss Kuhr's appointment enlarges the staff by one instructor and brings the total to three. Miss Florence Rathmann, R.N., is coordinator and instructor and Miss Ruth Hopper, R.N., is instructor.

Slick Pavements Sends Another Auto Into Utility Standard

Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. poles took a beating Friday night and early today as two of them were knocked over in separate automobile accidents.

Appleton police said Daniel A. Wallace Jr., 16, 503 S. Washington St., Kimberly, was in front of 127 S. Walter Ave. at about 11:15 p.m. Friday when the youth said he turned too sharp, skidded on slick pavement, lost control of the car and smashed into the pole.

Wallace and two occupants of the car, Thomas K. Williams, 17, 1504 W. Third St., Kimberly, and Richard E. Paalman, 17, 326 S. Maple St., Kimberly, suffered head and face cuts and were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by Larry's Ambulance Service.

Slick pavement was a factor in other accidents Friday and today.

A car being driven on Jackson Street near W. Water Street about 4 p.m. Friday by Kathleen B. McIntyre, 803 S. Pierce St., skidded into a parked car.

The parked car, owned by Jerrald J. Braun, route 1, Shiocton, was in the Atlas Mill parking lot.

Also re-elected were R. W. Mahony Sr., vice president, and Harold O. Schroeder, secretary-treasurer.

Thanking board members for their vote of confidence, Howden added, "I will say some prayers that Carl (Appleton Vocational School Director Carl Bertram) says in good health, because without his efforts, background and assistance, I think many of our projects would go by the wayside."

Committee assignments made by Howden were administration, Schroeder; building and grounds, Howden; personnel, Frank Sprister; equipment and supplies, Mahony; and curriculum, Supt. of Schools William H. Spears, an ex-officio member of the board.

The platform will be Mayor Mitchell, representing the City of Appleton; Howard Thelin, representing the college relations committee of the Chamber of Commerce; President Tarr, representing the university; John Reeve, representing the Lawrence Alumni Association; Mrs. Ralph Whitehead, Sr., representing the parents of team members, and Miss Marguerite Schumann, representing the Lawrence Publicity Office.

CAB Stays Order on Ports In Clintonville, Outagamie

Appleton, Teamsters Officials in Harmony on '64 Contract Language

Both Sides Pave Way for Opening Round of 1965 Talks Next Month

City officials and Teamsters Union representatives buried the hatchet Friday night, starting the new year by agreeing for the most part on language for a contract covering the old year.

The common council's personnel committee met with Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of the union, for more than two hours in the city hall.

In addition to polishing off most of last year's unfinished business — namely a written agreement on wages, hours and working conditions — both sides paved the way for the opening round of 1965 contract talks next month.

After a 14-month dispute between the city and union, a Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) factfinder was called in last year and recommended a 3 per cent blanket pay hike for the unionized employees. In December the city council granted the wage increase.

Set Tone for Future While the purpose of the session was to go over the wording and terms of the 1964 contract, it also set the tone for future deliberations.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell sat in on the meeting, which produced an air of cordiality between city and union negotiators.

Noting the personnel committee had requested a meeting of the whole of the common council next week "to get council guidance" on 1965 negotiations, Schlieve questioned the wisdom of such a session.

Schlieve took the position, and city officials were inclined to go along with him, that such a meeting might prejudice 1965 contract talks and lead to a possible unfair labor practice against the City of Appleton.

"I don't think we would want anything like that to happen," Schlieve commented.

Mayor Mitchell and members of the personnel committee then requested Schlieve to submit the union's 1965 demands as soon as possible and called off the informal council meeting.

After the union's demands are received, the committee will meet with Local 563 bargaining team and then call a meeting of the council to arrive at an understanding on the city's position.

The first written, signed contract between the city and Local 563 should become a reality at in the Riverside Cemetery.

Transfer of North Central Service Will be Postponed Pending Outcome of Appeal

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

North Central Airlines service to the Fox Cities at the Outagamie County Airport will continue, at least temporarily, the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) decided Friday afternoon.

The CAB granted a temporary stay order (or postponement) of the effective date of its November ruling that Fox Cities airline service must be combined with service to Oshkosh at the Winnebago County Airport at Oshkosh effective 12:01 a.m. Jan. 25. The stay also applies to Clintonville air service being transferred to Green Bay and Ashland service being transferred to Ironwood, Mich.

The board ruled Friday the three Wisconsin communities and the Wisconsin State Aeronautics Commission have until Jan. 25 to file an appeal with the United States Court of Appeals, either in their home 7th District in Chicago or in the Washington, D.C. court district.

Effective Time The stay order will be effective until 10 days after the U.S. court disposes of the appeal.

How long this period will be is questionable, but Gerald O'Grady, counsel for Appleton and Outagamie County in Washington, said, "The time to prepare briefs and arguments, etc., takes about six months. And then once it gets before the court, it normally is decided within a couple of months."

As a result, the final word on whether the Oshkosh or the Appleton airport should be designated a "regional airport" to serve the Fox Valley, or if both should continue to receive North Central service may not be known until late September or early October.

Examiner's Ruling Before the CAB made its original ruling in November, its examiner, Edward T. Stodola, had recommended that both Appleton and Oshkosh continue to receive North Central service. He made the same recommendation in regard to Clintonville-Green Bay and Ashland-Ironwood.

Eight days ago, the state aeronautics commission announced it would intervene in behalf of Appleton, Clintonville and Ashland. So the federal court appeal, experts say, will be a coordinated effort between the four parties with the state agency leading the fight.

Which court (Chicago or Washington) the appeal goes to may have an effect on the outcome of the hearing, some experts say. The choice of which court will depend on which one the four parties agree they will have the best chance in.

One expert, who asked not to be identified, said, "The 7th District Court (Chicago) has in the past seemed reluctant to overturn anything a federal agency decides. The Washington court, on the other hand, 'doesn't seem at all afraid to reverse federal agency rulings.'"

However, whichever court district is decided upon, all other Wisconsin parties must comply. If Clintonville were to file an appeal with the Chicago court Monday, Appleton, Ironwood and the state would have to comply, even if they wanted their appeal in Washington.

The CAB stay order did not state whether North Central service will be provided to the Fox Cities at the old or the new Outagamie County airport. Word on which airport will be served is not expected until after the appeals are filed in the U.S. Court.

Appleton Men Face Charges Of Hijacking

Arrests Made by FBI Agents; Pair Arraigned Here

Two Appleton men have been arrested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) on charges of knowingly possessing merchandise taken in a $15,000 hijacking in Chicago.

Special Agent in Charge Richard A. Baker of the Milwaukee FBI office today announced the arrest in Appleton of Donald Roger Peters, 26, 916 Ridge Lane, and Duane Lee Wagner, 28, 115 Gardner's Row.

Baker said that Nov. 9, 1964, a tractor trailer operated by Wilson Motor Transit Co. had been hijacked in Chicago while carrying a load of Zenith television sets, radios and phonographs from Zenith Co., in Chicago to Cincinnati, Ohio.

The tractor and trailer had left the plant at about 2:15 p.m., and shortly thereafter, when the driver stopped for a traffic light, a gunman entered the cab, and made the driver continue a few blocks. The driver then was transferred to a car, driven around for about three hours then released.

Items Found Here When the abandoned tractor and trailer were recovered Nov. 10, some 118 television sets, color TV sets, radios and other merchandise was missing.

Value of the shipment was estimated at more than $15,000. Some of the stolen merchandise has been recovered in Appleton and Chicago, the FBI said, but more is still missing.

Wagner and Peters are charged with knowingly possessing in Appleton on the day following the hijacking, merchandise stolen in this incident, Baker said.

Several others have been arrested in Chicago in connection with the hijacking, and subsequent possession of the stolen merchandise, the FBI said.

Wagner was arrested Friday evening and arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Patrick Coughlin in Appleton. He waived preliminary hearing, and was released on $1,500 bond.

Peters was arrested this morning at his home and was to be arraigned at 1:30 p.m. before Coughlin.

Baker said the arrest climaxed an investigation of several weeks by agents of the Chicago and Milwaukee FBI offices.

He did not elaborate on events leading to the arrest of Wagner and Peters.
